*Extension students choosing the Pastoral Care focus area complete their programs as on-campus students, and, consequently, will not finish with their learning groups. Normally, these students complete the six theological core courses and two electives with their learning groups. This focus choice may not be feasible for all extension students. Students considering the Pastoral Care focus area need to assess their ability to complete the four required courses. Students who choose this focus area need to be able to complete the equivalent of the two required counseling courses (Counseling Theories and Counseling Practice) from an accredited graduate program in their local area, if on-campus work is not possible for them during a regular fall semester at Loyola University New Orleans. Students also need to complete Introduction to Pastoral Care and Counseling when it is offered online or on-campus in a two-week summer session. The fourth course in this focus area requires one unit of Clinical Pastoral Education from an accredited site. Not all cities or states have accredited sites. Available accredited sites for CPE may be found on the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education website: <<http://www.acpe.edu/DirectororiesRegions.html>>.
